

Being a Teacher in Today's USA

What is it like to be a teacher in today's USA – and what lessons can we learn from it?

In connection with World Teachers' Day, we invite you to a lecture with Bill Farmer about the teaching profession in the United States and how teachers and unions work to protect and strengthen the profession in a time of significant change.

Bill Farmer is a high school science teacher from Illinois and a member of the Executive Committee of the National Education Association (NEA), the largest teachers' union in the United States. The lecture is open to everyone, will be recorded, and can be viewed afterwards.

Date & Time: Thursday, October 8, 6:30–7:30 PM

Sveriges
Lärare

Learn more and register!
sverigeslarare.se/forelasningar

Being a Teacher in Today's USA

What is it like to be a teacher in today's USA – and what lessons can we learn from it?

In connection with World Teachers' Day, we invite you to a lecture with Bill Farmer about the teaching profession in the United States and how teachers and unions work to protect and strengthen the profession in a time of significant change.

Bill Farmer is a high school science teacher from Illinois and a member of the Executive Committee of the National Education Association (NEA), the largest teachers' union in the United States. The lecture is open to everyone, will be recorded, and can be viewed afterwards.

Date & Time: Thursday, October 8, 6:30–7:30 PM

Sveriges
Lärare

Learn more and register!
sverigeslarare.se/forelasningar

